Healthy Bodies + Healthy Minds = Healthy Students

Neighborcare Health's school-based health centers are full-service health clinics that provide medical, mental health and dental services for students. Our health center teams partner with school nurses, teachers and staff to provide safe, appropriate, culturally-competent health care to youth where they already spend much of their time—at school. Together we help improve students' health and their ability to succeed in school and beyond.

We're in your school

Our health centers are located in 15 public schools throughout Seattle and Vashon Island. Health center services and appointments are available to all students in Seattle Public Schools and to all students in public and private schools on Vashon.

Visit your school's front office to learn the location of the Neighborcare Health school-based health center inside your school.

Register today

Complete and sign the health center's registration forms to grant your child access to all the services available at school. Forms are available at neighborcare.org/clinics or at your school's health center.

Under Washington state law, students under 18 can register themselves for some confidential services. Neighborcare Health encourages all students to include their parent/guardian in their health care decisions. If you have questions or concerns, please contact the health center in your school.

Appointments

Appointments are available on weekdays before, during and after school hours. We are closed during school holidays and summer break. The health center will do everything possible to ensure students miss as little class time as possible. The health center gives Request to Report slips to students for appointments during school. Students may also visit the clinic without an appointment by getting a pass from their teacher or a referral from the school nurse.

Fees and Insurance

All students in Seattle Public Schools and any student on Vashon can access the medical, dental and mental health services provided at a school-based health center. There is no cost for students.

Neighborcare Health collects health insurance information and bills insurance, but insurance is not required for students to get care. We accept many health insurance plans, including Washington Apple Health (Medicaid). LabCorp also bills students' health insurance plans for lab services. Families may receive an explanation of benefits (EOB) statement, but students and families will not receive a billing statement for services not covered by insurance.

Neighborcare Health eligibility specialists are available to assist families and students in enrolling in health insurance programs. No student will be denied services due to inability to pay.

WHEN THE HEALTH CENTER IS CLOSED, students and families can access medical, dental and mental health services at any Neighborcare Health neighborhood clinic.

Through a network of about 30 clinics located in neighborhoods, schools and supportive housing, care teams provide whole-person care—including medical, dental, behavioral health, and pharmacy services—along with connections to basic needs like food and housing to facilitate health and well-being.
